

THE ...

MALANGO MINUTE

2010 March 5

Every 2 weeks

School year 1 — # 13

Editors:

Kathryn Wise, Frani Gerst, Holly Sehorn, Meredith Whitman, Sinco ter Maat and Rachel Knight

Send your ideas before Monday, March 15th, 6 pm on USB to the editors or email it to copy@malangoschool.org

Working Together

"As it is, there are many parts, yet one body. The eye cannot say to the hand, 'I have no need of you,' nor again the head to the feet, 'I have no need of you.' On the contrary, the parts of the body that seem to be weaker are indispensable, and on those parts of the body that we think less honorable we bestow the greater honor, and our unpreventable parts are treated with greater modesty, which our more presentable parts do not require."

Last Saturday all the students from Map 3–Map 5 went to help Bosco and Florence weed out their garden. I was really impressed by how fast we got the garden cleared. Everybody had their own job and we all worked hard at it and it was finished quickly. As I was thinking about this I was reminded of 1 Corinthians 12:14-24 which talks about us as Christians being a body, and how we are all equally important and all needed. As missionaries we see that if one part of the body is missing the work can be hindered but when all parts are working together and functioning, things are not as hard. So work together and see what amazing things God can accomplish through you!

Holly Sehorn

Namba Wan Ting Ting Bilong Me A testimony of a workman

When I was young, I knew about Christ. I understood that there was a man who died on a cross. But I never knew why or for whom this man Jesus died until the missionaries came to Hoskins. A man by the name of Jim Maley told me stories about King David slaying the Giant and of Adam and Eve and their creation. Nevertheless, I still did not know this Christ Jesus who all the 'white skins' had been speaking about.

That all changed in 2002 when, as most of you know, Mt. Pago erupted. I was frightened when I saw the red fire coming out of the mountain, and it reminded me of one story that I was told. I remember being told about Hell, Heaven, and that whoever believes in God will spend eternity in heaven and whoever doesn't will be in fire for ever. The volcanic eruption of Mt. Pago was God's sign to show me that I needed to believe in Him. I gave my life to Christ that year.

Nick Marvin was a friend of mine who was taking classes for a bible study and would teach me and help me learn about Jesus and His life. But shortly after, Nick had to leave, and he told me that I needed to continue his bible study. That night I cried out to God. I yelled that I was not able to teach the bible study, I was no good at explaining to others about the Bible. I was inadequate and not good enough. That night I read about Moses and the Pharos, and how Moses was not good at speaking like myself, but still God used him for a big work. I accepted the task of teaching a bible study to the other workman and meris.

Now I hold a bible study at different times of the day, one every 'belo' at 12 noon. God is my all; he has filled me in my 'bel', and is everything I think about. "Namba wan ting-ting bilong me."

Working together
gets the job done!
Bob the Builder

Bosco

Friday & Saturday 26/27 Feb we had the final production of 'The Importance of Being Earnest' by the Map 4 and 5 Drama class.

'THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST'

It was hard to concentrate in front of all those people.

—Holly Sehorn

It was good! I think everyone did better on stage! — Michelle Wols

What a wonderful, hilarious performance! The actor's convincingly played their roles; the costumes and stage set up was brilliant. Beulah did a great job of directing the whole thing. If you missed it, you missed out. — Rachel Knight

Everyone did well! I'm very pleased with MAP 4 and 5, both nights! All reviews from the audience were positive. As a teacher I could not be more pleased!

—Beulah Sehorn

I was nervous but it was fun! - Megan Sutton

It was unexpected you never knew when someone might mess up and you would have to improvise. It was fun getting dressed up!

— Danielle Wright

It was more fun but more nerve racking than rehearsals!

— Anna Diepenbrock

Lots of fun! — Katelyn Wright

HAIR!

